Board Grants Use Of High School to Several Societies

The Junior League was granted permission to use the high school auditorium on the afternoons of April 8 and 9 for its annual play and the board of education also granted an application from the Homecon and Prima Societies of the high school for use of the gym from 8 until 11:30 on April 2 for their annual frolic and dance.

The payroll for February, amounting to $37,710.84, and bills to the amount of $4,537.72 were audited and ordered paid.

Trustee Byrne for the building committee reported that the fire wall on No. 2 School was under construction; that the wooden stairs in the building, the brick side walls and the concrete floor has been placed at the bottom of the well and work is now being done on assembling the iron stairs. Boilers of all school buildings have been examined by a representative of the Hartford Boiler Insurance Company and a report submitted on February 11, 1937. The only suggestion made in reference to the boilers in Schools No. 2 and 8 and the report recommends that these boilers be re-buffed at the close of the present heating season. The report was received and filed.

China, which has women full political rights in 1925, now has many women doctors, politicians and female soldiers.

May I quote a part from the report of Mr. Meagher, the principal.

"A class in mechanical drawing and metal work was organized under the direction of Hubert Hoderath. Twenty-five men were registered. Good attendance and a high order of work was accomplished. We should make every effort to continue this activity."

"In the English and Americanization class the registration was better than for the past few years. This work should appeal to more people."

"The commercial department had the largest registration."

"For the past three years we have had a class in elementary engineering, hydraulics. This has met the need of about a dozen young engineers."

"The public speaking class closed its work by presenting two plays to the members and friends of the night school. The cast and the director, Mrs. McNelis, received many words of congratulation."

The night school is meeting a need for adult education. While we wish the attendance had been more regular we hope in another season some plans may be adopted to expand the work and improve the attendance.

Respectfully submitted,

B. C. VAN INGEN,

Superintendent of Schools.

Unusual Mixup of Horse and Auto

A rather unusual mixup occurred about 6 o'clock Friday evening when a frightened horse leaped up on top of a Ford roadster being driven by Joseph Huber of 9 Prospect street.

Saugerties, while the horse was being led by a bridle through Albany avenue by Edward Leghorn, employed by the Kingston Horse Market.

According to the police report of the incident Leghorn was leading three horses and as they approached the automobile the horse nearest Leghorn became frightened and leaped up on the car. The roof of the car was badly damaged and Leghorn was cut on the head. The horse was damaged so badly it was towed to the Doc Smith Garage for repairs.

At the time of the incident 15 horses were being led out Albany avenue toward the stables on Manor avenue.

Baby Found Dead In Pigpen Today

It was a day of profound grief for Argentians, from cattle baron to peon, ending as it did the greatest manhunt in the history of the republic.

Just before the police announcement, the baby's Patricia grand-father, the powerful Senator Antonio Santa Marina, raced out of Mar Del Plata for the La Sorpresa Estancia in a motor car crowded with physicians.

It was a forlorn hope. The baby was dead.

They Prefer To Take It Lying Down

After both the union and their employer had announced that the cause of the strike had been removed, sixty strikers on the third floor of a Philadelphia clothing factory went on with their "lie-down" strike. Here are some of them at work. (Associated Press Photo)

Strikers Gassed Sitting Down; Lose Seats

A force of 50 deputy sheriffs poured a barrage of tear gas into two plants of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation at Waukegan, Ill., routing 61 stubborn sit-down strikers who had held the building for ten days. These deputies, with two gas guns in action, are shown as the attack began. One deputy is dodging a missile. (Copyright Chicago Daily Times from The Associated Press)

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Camille." The finest dramatic treat of the year is to be seen at the Broadway with the premier cinema performer in American motion pictures contributing a triumph of unusual merit and depth. For Greta Garbo outshines everything she has done before the cameras in this brilliant characterization of a woman who wrecked men with her beauty and whose life was a series of frustrated romantic adventures. Robert Taylor as Armand, Lionel Barrymore as Duval and Henry Daniell as Baron De Varville, all contribute much to the play's artistic success, and others in the cast include Elizabeth Allen, Jessie Ralph, Rex O'Malley, Lenore Ulric, Laura Hope Crews and E. E. Clive. Adapted to the screen from Alexandre Dumas' novel, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has achieved a picture of praiseworthy value, but Miss Garbo's performance far outshadows the supporting cast as she runs the gamut of dramatic art. George Cukor directed.

Kington: "You Only Live Once." Stark, moving melodrama comes to the Kingston screen in all the ramifications of fear, despair and tragedy to reach a bitter end in a love which failed to transcend the high barriers thrown in its path. Here is the story of a boy, unjustly accused of murder, who breaks away from prison in one of the most dramatic escapes ever shown in a motion picture. He moves toward freedom as the prison warden shouts that evidence has come to light to prove him innocent but the boy goes on and is forced to kill the chaplain on his way to release. He then becomes an actual murderer, hunted like a dog, and the girl he loves follows him blindly through the terror of the days that follow. Henry Fonda and Sylvia Sydney are costarred in this well played film tragedy, and Barton MacLane, Jean Dixon, William Garwood and the late Chas. Hale are also in the cast. Here is strong, gripping entertainment, almost perfect in its presentation and valuable in its grim lesson it portrays.

Orpheum: "Country Gentlemen" and "Down on a Trail." The Orpheum is featured in the double feature bill at the downtown theatre along with Bill Boyd. Mr. Boyd is to be seen in the first effort, a comedy attempt, and Bill Boyd rides and shoots and blazes his way through a none too weighty western drama in the other double feature.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same

Kington: Same

Orpheum: "Girl of the Opium" and "Rogue of the Range." Little Sylvia Sydney plays a big bill role in the most interesting of the Orpheum features and her supporting cast includes Lou Erickson and Henrietta Crossman. It's a story of simple people, simply told.

"Rogue of the Range" stars Johnny Mack Brown in a blazing tale of the West and the usual "Guns & Saddle" as an added feature on the Sunday bill.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, Feb. 27 (UP)—Specialties, including merchandising shares and packing stocks, propped up today's market with gains of fractions to a point or more.

With news stimulus lacking for the list as a whole however many issues were unable to get ahead to any appreciable extent and a number retreated in the final hour.

It was one of the quietest sessions of the year with transfers totalling around 1,000,000 shares.

While traders apparently were wary of broadening commitments on either side of the market insistent selling was scarce.

A break in unofficial London copper quotations tripped up some of the red metal shares but it was thought these were due for at least a moderate technical reaction in view of their lengthy upturn.

The preponderance of shares selling under $10 was again the subject of discussion in commission houses.

Well ahead during the greater part of the proceedings were Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Gimbel, Macy, Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone, Wilson, Armour, Paramount Industrial Ragon, Schenley, Western Union, Mack Truck, Yellow Truck, White Motors, Celro De Pasco and Boeing.

In a restricted group were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, General Electric, Loews and N. Y. Central.

Red Cross Gets $17,000 In County

Cross will have in mind the work of the home chapter and strengthen it to help in ameliorating the human suffering hidden in the future. Every citizen of our county should be a member of our organization. Half of the dollar that makes you such goes to the Washington headquarters. With that condition existing it is necessary for our chapter to have 5,000 memberships in order to have $4,000 to run its headquarters.

May I conclude by again expressing the great gratitude of the Red Cross organization to the generosity of the people of Ulster county interested in its work.

We predict a very good year indeed for that fast-growing American business—straightening out bent fenders.

Traffic Officer (to hit-and-run victim)—So you didn't get this license number. Could you swear to the driver?

Victim—Sure, and I did, but it didn't do a bit of good.

Clipped from somewhere: "Instead of measuring our highways in miles, we should measure them in kilometers."

Grocer—What's become of that deliveryman Jones, who prided himself as being the perfect driver?

Jobber—He met Bones, the imperfect one.

The fellow in the rumble seat can't be blamed if he thinks he has cause to abuse the driver.

Here lies a pedestrian, he's as cold as ice. He jumped only once when he should have jumped twice.

Years ago it was the automobile that scared the horse, now it's an other horse.

Customer—I want something downright funny and quaint as a mascot for my cat.

Girl (minding the shop)—Daddy, you are wanted.

Clipped from an exchange: "One place in which the grass is never allowed to grow is the path from the back door to the garage."

Stranger—Have you lived in Brushville long?

Native—Have I lived here long? Why, mister, you won't believe it but I lived here when there wasn't a single filling station in town.

Nowadays the midnight oil is burned in the transmission instead of the lamp.

Lawyer—You say you want this automobile accident damage suit pressed through with the utmost speed?

Victim—Exactly. I have a child six weeks old, and I want the money to pay his college education.

A tip to the grade crosser: "When in doubt—STOP!"

With runaway trucks and wild automobiles, our cement urns and white way poles are having a hard fight for existence.

Many a one-horse town has two filling stations.

The present unpopularity of porch swings, with the young people, means a lot of filling stations.

Brown—What is the first thing to do when you're learning to run an automobile?

Jasper—Say your prayers.

The automobile would not be half so dangerous if the horse sense of the drivers was in proportion to the horse power of the motors.

A hermit there was who lived in a grot.

And the way to be happy they said he had got.

As I wanted to learn it, I went to his cell;

And this answer he gave, as I asked him to tell:

"Tis BEING and DOING, and HAVING that make

All the pleasures and pains of which mortals partake.

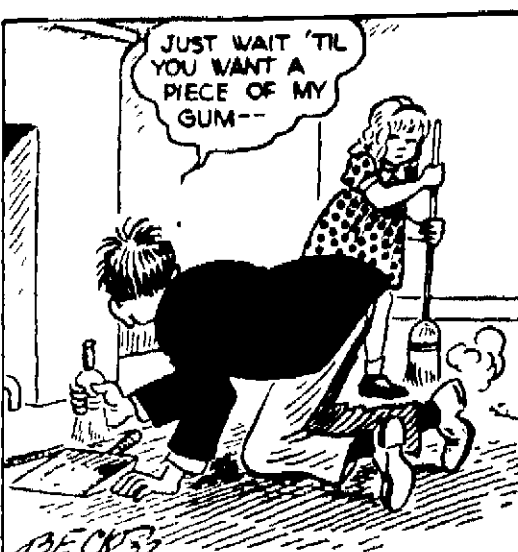

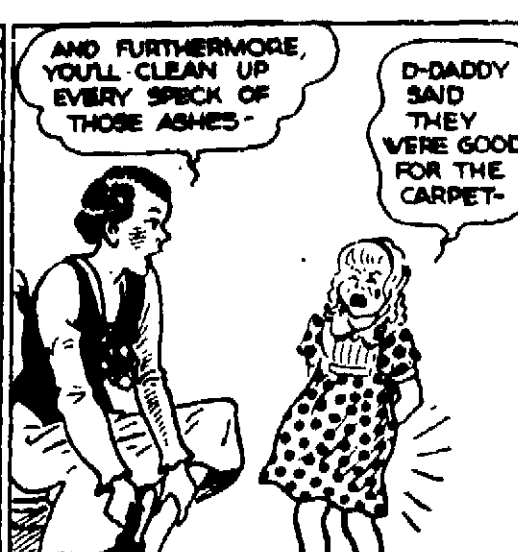

To BE what God pleases, to DO what is best.

And to HAVE a good heart is the way to be blest."

Sit down and analyze yourself. Find out your own faults. Be critical, be harsh with yourself. Ask yourself these questions: Am I lazy? Am I extravagant? Have I an excessive, explosive temper? What in the world is the matter with me anyway? This self-analysis may make you bluish, but it is better to "blush unseen" like the roses than to stand out in society tagged as a "successful failure."

Don't worry, but if you do, don't worry others with your worries.

HFN AND ANY.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scholarly Levity

Eric, Pa.—Dark threats of a sit-down strike in protest against too much home work filtered through the student body of Academy High School.

"What's the use of a sit-down strike," argued Principal C. W. McNary, meeting with the malcontents, "when that is all you do all day long, anyhow?"

The students decided against the idea.

Commutation

Newark, N. J.—Just for the purpose of the record, Isadore Schwartz, 57, is out of alimony jail.

"I am beginning to think I am actually sentenced to life," he wrote Advisory Master John A. Matthews, adding that he hadn't a dollar and had lost his job during his six months tenancy of a cell.

He got out.

Kiss and Tell

Denver—To prove the bacteriological hazards involved in kissing, Instructor T. A. Anderson prevailed on several high school students of both sexes to kiss dishes of cold, jellied beef broth.

Examining the broth several days later under microscopes, students found flourishing clusters of germs on the lip imprints.

A survey next morning showed the students were deeply impressed—not a one went out the previous evening and kissed a dish of cold, jellied beef broth.

Questionable Art

Peoria, Ill.—Recruiting Officer Karl K. Jones ruled Walter K. Elger would have to put some clothes on a nude lady tattooed on his forearm before he could join the navy.

Regulations, Jones explained, forbade the enlistment of persons who had offensive matter "engraved" on their epidermis.

Four Bus Drivers Arrested for Using Wrong City Streets

Inspectors Cornelius Shea and Henry Honaker of the State Public Service Commission were in Kingston Friday afternoon and arrested four bus drivers on charges of operating busses on streets not designated in their franchise. The four drivers arrested were John R. Herick of Coxsack, driver for the Mountain View Coach Line, and Joseph P. Sweeney of Saugerties, Floyd E. Mackey of Highland, and John Kolano of Saugerties, employed by the Diamond D. Line. Hearings in all four cases were adjourned in Monday morning in police court, and all four drivers were paroled.

The visit of the inspectors here Friday is thought to be the result of a decision handed down by the public service commission last year, denying the bus line the right to use the new bus terminal on North Front street instead of the bus terminal on Crown street. An appeal has been made from the decision of the public service commission and is still pending.

Last December the Public Service Commission acted on the petition of the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Line, the Woodstock-Kingston Line and the Eagle Line, which had petitioned to have their routes changed in Kingston so that they could use the North Front street terminal. The petition was denied by the state board. The Mt. View Line, the Diamond D. the Marlborough Line and the Hudson Rapid Transit Company who have also been using the new terminal, did not petition for a change of route, evidently waiting to ascertain what final disposition was made of the petition of the other bus lines.

The four drivers arrested Friday were employed by the bus lines who have not applied for a change of route.

It will be recalled that the Crown street bus terminal was closed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company last year, and when it was closed steps were taken to open the new bus terminal on North Front street. Subsequently the Crown street terminal was reopened by Frederick Hill and is now in operation, with some of the bus lines using it and the other bus lines using the North Front street terminal.

Radio Beam Curved To Bring Planes In

FOR BLIND LANDINGS

Sketch illustrates how a new portable apparatus at end of field transmits a curved radio beam which a pilot can follow down by aid of two little needles on his instrument panel. Of further help is a sound beacon which tells when he crosses the edge of field.

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH, Associated Press Science Writer.

Washington.—What many radio engineers hold is the answer to the problem of safe blind landings for aircraft has been developed by two young scientists, who turned down an offer from a foreign government after the United States dismissed them.

The instrument, perfected by Dr. Frank G. Keat and Gomer L. Davies, enables a pilot to slide his plane down a curved glide path from a height of 3,000 feet to a smooth contact with the ground. It may go far, the inventors believe, toward avoiding accidents near airports such as those which have occurred recently.

Simple to Follow.
Following it in fair weather or foul, is a comparatively simple job of maneuvering the craft until two instrument needles are squarely crossed, then holding them in that position.

Developments of the device became possible when the two men discovered how to project radio waves in a pencil-like beam curving

Hit by Economy Act.

When the economy act of 1933 came along Keat and Davies were hard at work in the radio laboratories of the national bureau of standards and had brought the instrument to the point of testing it in flight.

A few days later they found themselves on the sidewalk.

Several foreign scientists had become familiar with their work, but they refused an offer from one foreign government—which they will not name—and took less lucrative jobs with a new organization, the Washington Institute of Technology.

The institute projected a new idea in the relation between science and its application for human betterment—it employed men to work in pure science, leaving the mass production of instruments and devices they perfected to manufacturing organizations.

One of the first of these is the blind landing device.

Many Aids to Aviation.

Both men have much to their credit in improving air navigation. While in government service Davies discovered the "multiple-beam" effect in the radio range beacons, a phenomenon which resulted in the projection of several false beams in addition to the true one and which is believed to have been the cause of several fatal accidents.

Dr. Keat is credited with perfecting an antenna system for the radio range beacons which made them useful for the first time at night.

Previous to his work they were useless after dark because of "night effect," a fading due to changes in the layers of air high above the earth which reflect radio waves back to the ground.

In addition Dr. Keat was one of the group of scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology which developed about 10 years ago a "mechanical brain" capable of solving problems involving six different integrations simultaneously.

Address at Young Married Women's Club

Mrs. Arthur D. Jaques, vice chairman of the International cooperation department of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, addressed the Young Married Women's Club on Thursday on "World Affairs."

Mrs. Jaques opened with the question, "Is peace possible? Nations have broken down because of selfish interests. Can we have peace or must we have war?" The speaker then discussed the world as it is today, the Far East, the military party of Japan has always had the upper hand and parliament and not said much. However, in the last few weeks parliament has been dissolved and the people are saying that they will be more fair to China. China was formerly a sluggish nation, according to Mrs. Jaques, and was not united and never asserted itself. Now it is more united and, therefore, a much stronger nation. She said that Japan is not as eager for war as it was in the past. Russia has said that if Japan goes further in the Chinese policy she will have to fight to protect her own interests in China. The United States has had the open door policy since 1899 but will not be able to keep it if there is war. The United States is not as willing to fight as in the past. Mrs. Jaques thinks that in the past the United States has been in the East, the United States is safe, because they will not come here and leave their own shores unprotected.

In speaking of Europe, Mrs. Jaques expressed the opinion that the nations of Europe have bungled the war in Spain. Something could have been done about it at the beginning if England and France had brought pressure to bear. Spain will be crippled for many years as a result of its pitiful case. However, the speaker assured her audience that there was nothing for the United States to fear from Spain.

"Germany is the greatest danger spot," continued Mrs. Jaques. The Treaty of Versailles was not fair and Hitler's actions in respect to the treaty were a good thing for Germany, although his methods were not admirable. Hitler is bitter towards Russia and will not enter any compact. Germany has announced to the world that she will not pay her war debts and that she wants all her colonies returned. England's answer to this was a $1,000,000,000 navy program.

The next country discussed was the United States and the question of national defense. Most people seem to feel there should be a national defense. One of the best ways to do this is not to enter foreign wars or to send armies or supplies to Europe. War's greatest foe is democracy, because it gives the President full power, she said.

Mrs. Jaques concluded her address with the quotation, "The real enemies of peace are the millions and millions of women who are indifferent to this cause."

The next meeting of the Young Married Women's Club will be on Thursday, March 11, at 2:30 o'clock, at which time will be held the spring style show.

Munson, Regional 'Y' Secretary, to Speak at Banquet, on China

E. H. MUNSON

E. H. Munson, regional Y. M. C. A. secretary, will be the guest speaker at the banquet to be held on Wednesday, March 10, at 6:30 o'clock.

From 26 years of Y. M. C. A. leadership, travel, observation and acquaintance with leading officials in China, Mr. Munson, who has recently returned to the United States on furlough, has a valuable insight into the political, economic, social and religious outlook of present day China.

Mr. Munson reports that China, the land of disastrous floods, has established experimental stations for the study of the flood control of the mighty rivers which have caused the loss of many lives. Dykes are being built, and irrigation plants worked out under the guidance of engineers who have carefully studied the best methods of other nations.

Among Mr. Munson's reports concerning China's educational status is the revelation that less than two percent of Chinese youth has the benefit of formal education. While educational facilities are increasing, there has been an increase of 2700 percent since 1900 as compared with 600 percent in the United States; there is still room for improvement.

Mr. Munson was born in Cherokee, Ia., and was graduated from Grinnell College in 1909. He matriculated at Hartford Theological Seminary and Columbia University.

The Y. M. C. A. is bringing courage to China's youth amidst restlessness and fears. It is helping youth to think through its problems and devote its efforts to constructive activities. It is sending out from its doors trained young men to lead in political, social, and economic callings.

The number of reservations for the banquet being received at the Y. M. C. A. indicates there will be a fine turnout. However, because of the limited serving room the committee would appreciate at the earliest possible an idea of those planning to attend so as to carry out the plans smoothly.

Fashions and Household Hints for Women

Spring Styles Go Feminine Under Spell Of World-Wide Romance

Frothy Frocks Introduce Glamour

By ADELAIDE KERR

New York (AP)—Romance rules the new spring styles designed to captivate men.

Loves of kings, weddings of princes and romances of the man in the street have combined to inspire the most feminine mode the style world has seen in years.

Lovebird prints, "Lorelei gowns" and flower-embroidered lapels—these are a few of the feminine tricks which belong to the new spring mode, designed to create glamour and bring the "mere male" to his knees.

There are new Viennese Waltz frocks—romantic as the Blue Danube—which are going to produce drama in many a ballroom this spring. They are designed with full frothy skirts and low puff-sleeved bodices, made of diaphanous laces and tulle and accented with vivid flowers.

After them come "Lorelei gowns"—slim, princess designs—named for the sirens of the sea and just about as seductive.

Jeweled Hearts

Lace evening capes and coats and jeweled hearts for collars add to the glamour of the gowns that will step out under spring stars.

The entire mode reflects color. Pink (said to have caused more men to propose than any other hue) is back in a variety of shades ranging from a vivid "Gauguin pink" to a soft "Rose de France." "Seine sunset hues," pastel blue, limelight yellow and green also appear on the fashion palette. Navy blue, black, gray and beige running from vanilla to toast are the chief basic hues.

Lovebird Prints

New spring coats are trimly fitted, buttoning down the front, and under them go colorful romantic prints. "Amour" is written in white letters across dark silks, while other crepes are splashed with lovebird patterns or designs of books of love poems. Old-fashioned fabrics, such as bengaline, alpaca and twill make more frocks.

Crisp, white lingerie blouses step out with sober suits. Starch white collars or colorful embroideries add zest to dark town frocks. Lapels of evening suits are beaded, spangled or covered with tiny flowers. Butterflies hover on hats and revers and fresh twin nosegays perch on lapels—all combining to give the style world a sentimental spring.

IN DAY DRESSES

Lavender lace made over a pale blue taffeta slip fashions a feminine day dress displayed at the Miami Lace Ball. The waistline is girdled in blue taffeta and the veiled hat is finished with a pink rose.

IN WALTZ FROCKS

Romantic as the Blue Danube Waltz is this evening frock of limelight yellow lace displayed at the Miami Lace Ball. It is designed with a low decolletage, finished with a cluster of flowers in glowing nasturtium shades.

IN PRINTS

One of the season's most striking prints is white silk patterned with the word "amour" written in red and blue letters. It is used here as a vestee for a dark blue silk crepe frock. Notice the vee neckline.

Advice For The Busy Hostess: Save Time With Buffet Suppers

ALL SET FOR THE BUFFET SUPPER

A rust-colored linen tablecloth, cream-colored Italian pottery with a rust and green pattern and deep green Italian glass make effective appointments for this informal Sunday evening buffet supper table. The three-part electric heater will keep plenty of food warm for second—and even third—helpings.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

AP Feature Service Writer.

Many a business or professional woman who is too busy during the week to do any entertaining sets her Sunday afternoons and evenings aside for that purpose.

Often she invited her friends in to tea. But still more often she asks them to share an informal supper with her.

Because she has discovered the ease with which the buffet-style supper may be prepared she often serves it in that manner, adding an extra plate or two for the unexpected guests who may join her group at the last minute.

The Sunday night supper generally calls for one hot dish—except in hot weather or in the warmer, semi-tropical sections of the country. With the addition of a hot beverage, a hot bread or a date or nut bread, relishes, jams, and maybe a salad and a dessert, her supper is bound to be pronounced more than adequate.

A casserole of creamed oysters—or other sea food—sprinkled with grated cheese and browned in the oven makes a Savory Sunday evening supper dish. Green peppers or tomatoes stuffed with corn, mushrooms, chicken, veal or asparagus and baked are also appetite-tempting.

Creamed Combinations.

Another tasty combination is a shallow baking dish filled with creamed chicken, turkey, duck or fish and topped with tiny baking powder biscuits—baked until they are a delicate brown.

Other suggestions include a platter heaped with noodles or rice and surrounded with creamed shrimps or curried veal, Welsh rabbit on toast, or home-baked beans and steamed brown bread.

Potato salad, although it is commonplace, may be made unusually attractive when it is palatably seasoned and served with sliced cold meats, jellied chicken, tongue or meat loaf.

A large bowl of green salad mixed with French dressing may be placed on the table for the guests to help themselves. Frozen fruit, cheese or gelatin mold salads are also both colorful and delectable.

Cherise Biscuits Good.

Cheese biscuits or the increasingly popular popovers make excellent hot breads to add. (Toasted cheese sandwiches are enticing with a fruit or vegetable salad when there is no hot dish, by the way.) Tea (try putting a bit of clove in it), chocolate (perhaps with marshmallows) or coffee are all easy to prepare and serve.

A bowl of assorted fruits—it may have served as a centerpiece—or frosted cakes or cookies may provide the dessert. Or, if there's time to prepare something a little more elaborate there are always such things as: Coconut layer cakes with orange fillings, cherry or strawberry tarts, chocolate rolls with nutmeg fillings, or a nut-date ice-box cake.

cloth in place with heavy rubber bands. The cloth may be removed washed and used again.

Catsup or chili sauce give added flavor to meat and fish, veal, or chops and roasts. Either may be poured over the top of the meat about fifteen minutes before it has finished cooking.

Chintz draperies should be shaken out every few weeks and then brushed off with a stiff brush. It is best to shake them out-of-doors if possible.

Try baking your biscuits on a pancake griddle. And serve honey or maple syrup with them.

When you're buying pans for the kitchen choose those with round corners whenever possible. Round-cornered pans are much easier to keep clean than those with square corners.

Helps For Housewives

Beeswax mixed with equal portions of salt will remove rust from irons. Other stains and waxes which they may be removed are: (1) coffee, tea or chocolate stains on cups—moisten a little salt with cold water; (2) flower stains in vases—fill vase with a mixture containing two tablespoonsful of vinegar to each half a cup of boiling water and wash it out—after ten minutes go on. In hot water and soap suds; (3) stains on brass or copper—use equal portions of salt and vinegar.

Sliced fruits add a delicious flavor to meals. Pears, pineapple, about it several times—securing the peaches, apricots, apples, oranges or even grapes—all of them spiced—may be served with the main course.

They will also lend an interesting flavor to the fruit cocktail or salad. Candied ginger is another favorite.

The children's toy box can often supply the materials for unusual table decorations. Tiny houses may be placed on a mirror "rink" for a shining party and little people and furniture used for a local shower.

Tangerines are delicious in salad and cocktail combinations. They are easily peeled and freed of the fibrous portions and blend well with pine-apple, pears, cherries, grapefruit and bananas.

A home-made cleaning stick will be of much assistance in cleaning Venetian blinds. Select a long green or wide stick. Fasten a soft cloth about it several times—securing the

FASHION FANCIES

Paris, (AP)—Printed chiffon night-gowns are topped by long satin coats printed in the same multi-color floral pattern. A cherry-print gown has shoulder straps and a waistline drawing of cherry-colored velvet ribbon. The matching coat has quilted revers and sleeves.

New York, (AP)—Are you one of those persons with a single silver fox that you can't afford to match? Take it to your furrier and have him put a head and a tail on either end—with the tails both hanging down and the heads set several inches from the ends of the skin itself.

Paris, (AP)—Saddle-stitching is the latest word for high-lighting leather belts and bags. A box-calf purse and belt in win red are harness-stitched in coarse white thread. Morocco leather sets which include a belt, clip and bracelet are accented with stitching jewel-shaped spots of contrasting leather and heavy silver nail-heads.

New York, (AP)—A dash of paisley or a sprig of spring flowers—that's what it takes to bring that last year's all-black or dark blue utility dress up to date. The paisley may appear in an acet scarf—repeated in paisley-covered buttons or in short turn-up cuffs on the short sleeves. It may also be used on a matching turban. The flowers may be cut from a silk print and applied around the neck, hemline or sleeve-edge. If the dress is flared slightly from the waist, a neat row of flowers also may be applied down each side.

DAFFODILS ARE ESSENCE OF SPRING WITH GAY BLOOMS

Golden daffodils and jonquils distill the essence of spring. With a bouquet of these gay blooms in the living room or on the office desk one can join with Wordsworth in saying: "And then my heart with pleasure fills and dances with the daffodils."

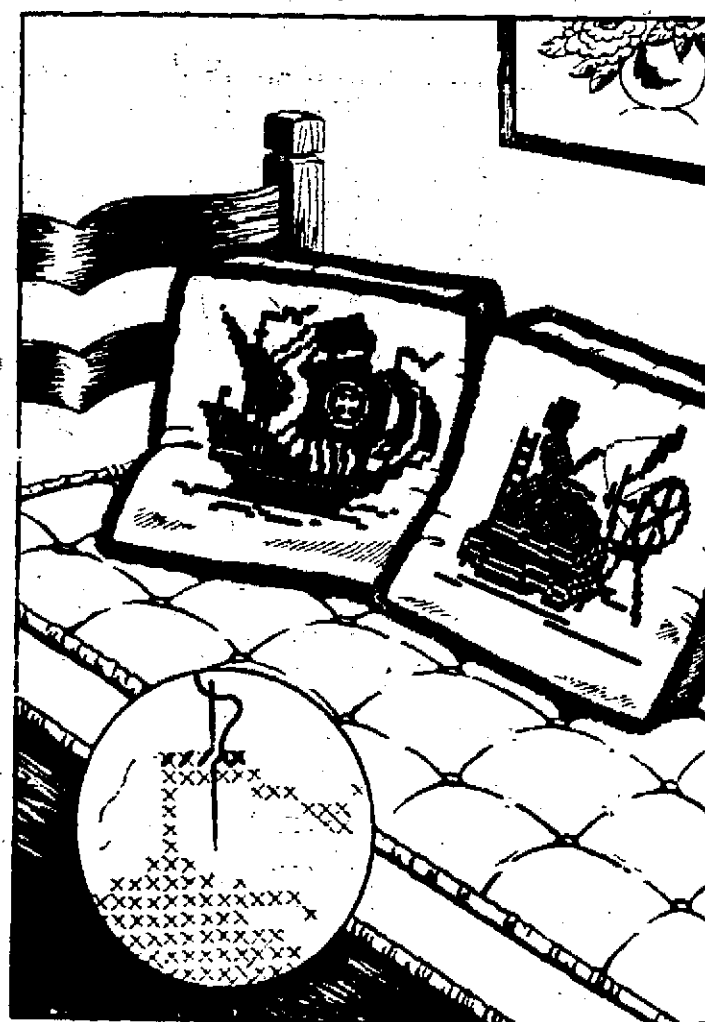

A modernistic upright of plain spring green pottery is lovely for these bright colored flowers. By cutting their stems at different lengths the blooms stand at various levels so that the face of each individual flower is in full view. A few

It's No Task To Make Cross-Stitch Pillows

ORNAMENTAL COMFORT
Handcraft pillows should contain enough stuffing to make them comfortable as well as ornamental. Cross-stitch pillows like those shown above can be made with little effort.

By ELISABETH MAY BLONDEL
(Prepared By McCall's Magazine
For The Freeman)

There really isn't any good reason why a comfortable pillow shouldn't be good looking and why an ornamental pillow shouldn't be made so that it may be leaned against. Now, add to the pillows we make have no more than enough stuffing to be resilient and to hold their shape.

Of all the handcraft pillows, the cross-stitch ones are perhaps the easiest to make—they require no concentration. For the woman who likes to be busy while chatting or listening to the radio, this work is just right, as it may be done in the same stitch and color all through.

For any living room in Colonial style—or practically any room not too formal or ultra-modern—the designs shown here would be in cheerful harmony.

Next time you wash your hands, don't just give your fingers a perfunctory washing and let the towel do the rest. Give them a thorough soaping-over with soap and warm water. It will not only be easier on the towel but better for your health.

When a dining room opens from another room with double doors, it should follow the same style and color scheme, if a harmonious effect is desired.

Frost Smoke
 Frost smoke is a fog which rises in winter from open water which is relatively warm compared to the overlying cold air. This fog usually consists of ice crystals (snow). Frost smoke forms more readily in very cold weather when the wind is calm or very light, and when the difference between the temperatures of the water and the air is large. The fog often drifts away from the open water to the adjacent ice an snow-covered areas, where it is blown down the ice.
